WHERE IS GRETA

And now you can see the PC. There is an email on the desktop...

A team of Italian researchers is developing a technology capable of averting and totally eliminating the climate changes underway. It is a safe, innovative, sustainable, clean technology. Unfortunately, however, there are very strong powers that would not be happy with these advances: for these categories it would mean renouncing all the privileges they have acquired, facing huge losses of money and a total overturning of the society in which they exercise their power. : energy would be accessible to all, as well as drinking water and food, animals and plants would be respected and we would all be truly equal.

The stakes are too important. That's why I, and the team of 10 researchers, are in a very secret location and will stay here until we can come out. Nobody has to know, let them believe that I disappeared into thin air. You will be our only link with external reality. Keep this secret: now the world is in YOUR hands.

I confide in you,

Greta T.
